

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY
SECTION 105(a) TROUBLED ASSETS RELIEF PROGRAM
REPORT TO CONGRESS
FOR THE PERIOD
MAY 1, 2009 TO MAY 31, 2009

I. OVERVIEW

During the reporting period of May 1 to May 31, 2009, the Department of the Treasury (Treasury) continued to implement and develop programs under the Troubled Assets Relief Program (TARP) and the Financial Stability Plan (FSP), pursuant to the goals of the Emergency Economic Stabilization Act of 2008 (EESA). Treasury's comprehensive approach to restoring stability to the financial system includes actions to promote the availability of credit to consumers and small businesses, reduce preventable foreclosures, stabilize systemically important financial institutions, and promote the transparency of programs under the TARP. Given the critical role financial institutions and markets play in the U.S. economy, financial stability is a necessary precondition to the resumption of economic growth. Specifically, during this reporting period, Treasury took the following steps toward promoting financial stability:

- Auto Industry Financing Program (AIFP) – Treasury undertook a series of transactions through the AIFP in May. On May 1, 2009, Treasury and the Canadian government jointly agreed to make a loan to Chrysler LLC (Chrysler) in its capacity as debtor-in-possession (DIP) in its bankruptcy case. On May 20, 2009, Treasury increased its loan commitment in the DIP credit agreement for Chrysler. On May 21, 2009, Treasury invested in GMAC LLC (GMAC) to support GMAC's ability to originate new loans to Chrysler dealers and consumers and help address GMAC's capital needs as identified through the Supervisory Capital Assessment Program (SCAP). On May 27, 2009, Treasury committed to invest in New CarCo Acquisition LLC, the company that will purchase Chrysler's assets. On May 29, 2009, Treasury exchanged its $884 million loan to General Motors (GM) for a portion of GM's common equity interest in GMAC. Treasury also funded to GM approximately $361 million on May 27, 2009, which will provide government-funded protection for automobile warranties issued by GM to the extent that, during the restructuring process, GM is unable to honor its warranty commitments.
- Capital Purchase Program (CPP) – Treasury continued to purchase senior preferred stock and subordinated debentures from financial institutions through the CPP in May, with the goal of injecting capital into healthy banks. In addition, Treasury continued to receive dividend payments from institutions participating in the CPP. On May 13, 2009, Treasury announced the re-opening of the CPP with new terms aimed at encouraging participation by small community banks that are qualified financial institutions (QFIs) as defined under any published term sheet. On May 14, 2009, Treasury notified a number of insurance companies that they had received preliminary approval to participate in the CPP.

- Making Home Affordable Program – Additional servicers executed Servicer Participation Agreements under the Home Affordable Modification Program in May. On May 14, 2009, Treasury announced further details on the Making Home Affordable Program.

Treasury continues to implement the TARP with a high degree of transparency and accountability. On May 15, 2009, Treasury published the third Monthly Lending Intermediation Survey and Snapshot, providing information from Treasury's monthly survey of lending and intermediation activities of the top 21 recipients of government investment through the CPP in March 2009. Survey results illustrated that outstanding loan balances dropped one percent in March, as many institutions indicated that borrowers paid down outstanding debt. Despite the declines in loans held on banks' balance sheets, originations of new loans accelerated. All banks reported an increase in total new lending of 27 percent from February to March (approximately $63 billion). Lending rose across all types of loans. Two factors contributed to the increased volume in originations. One, there were three additional business days in the March survey period (22 days) versus the February period (19 days). Two, loan volume typically rises at quarter end, a normal seasonal demand pattern. The Monthly Survey and Snapshot are available at: <http://www.financialstability.gov/impact/surveys.htm>.

Treasury also continued to coordinate closely with the federal banking regulators in implementing key programs to stabilize the system. On May 7, 2009, the federal bank supervisory agencies released the results of the supervisory capital assessment program (SCAP) for the 19 largest U.S. bank holding companies. The SCAP (or stress tests) was a forward looking capital assessment undertaken by the banking regulators to determine if banks had sufficient capital buffers to weather a worse-than-expected economic scenario and continue lending in that scenario. The stress test exercise was designed to complement Treasury's Capital Assistance Program (CAP), which makes capital available to financial institutions as a bridge to private capital in the future.

II. REPORTING REQUIREMENTS

This is Treasury's seventh Section 105(a) Troubled Assets Relief Program Report to Congress (TARP Report) required by the EESA. Pursuant to EESA section 105(a), this TARP Report provides the following regarding activities that occurred in May:

- An overview of actions taken by the Secretary, including the considerations required by section 103 and the efforts under section 109.
- The actual obligation and expenditure of the funds provided for administrative expenses by section 118.
- A detailed financial statement with respect to the exercise of authority, including:
 - all agreements made or renewed;
 - all insurance contracts entered into pursuant to section 102;
 - all transactions occurring during the reporting period, including the types of parties involved;
 - the nature of the assets purchased;

- all projected costs and liabilities;
- operating expenses, including compensation for financial agents;
- the valuation or pricing method used for each transaction; and
- a description of the vehicles established to exercise such authority.

III. PROGRAMS AND INITIATIVES

Automotive Industry Financing Program

On May 1, 2009, Treasury and the Canadian government jointly agreed to make a loan in the total amount of $4.1 billion to Chrysler in its capacity as debtor-in-possession (DIP) in its bankruptcy case. Treasury's share of that loan is $3.04 billion. The terms of the loan are set forth in a credit agreement executed on May 5, 2009. The bankruptcy court authorized interim borrowing of up to $1.4 billion pending final approval of the loan. Treasury's share of that interim loan is $1.04 billion. The balance of the $4.1 billion was approved by the bankruptcy court on May 20, 2009. Treasury's commitment to lend constitutes the purchase of a debt obligation under Section 101 of the EESA. Also on May 20, 2009, Treasury increased its loan commitment in the DIP credit agreement by $757 million, bringing Treasury's share of the maximum amount available under the loan to a total of $3.8 billion.

On May 21, 2009, Treasury invested $7.5 billion in Mandatorily Convertible Preferred Interests in GMAC to support GMAC's ability to originate new loans to Chrysler dealers and consumers and help address GMAC's capital needs as identified through the Supervisory Capital Assessment Program.

On May 27, 2009, Treasury committed to invest in New CarCo Acquisition LLC, the company that will purchase Chrysler's assets. Treasury executed a binding term sheet for a loan of up to $7.943 billion, which consists of new debt obligations of approximately $6.9 billion, debt of approximately $500 million to be transferred in connection with Treasury's May 21, 2009 agreement with GMAC, and assumed debt of $500 million from Treasury's January 2, 2009 credit agreement with Chrysler Holding LLC. The debt obligations will be secured by a first priority lien on the assets of New CarCo Acquisition LLC (the new Chrysler). In addition, Treasury will obtain other consideration, including an equity interest in New CarCo Acquisition LLC and an additional note. The final amount spent out of our DIP commitment and the resulting exit financing combined will be resolved when the 363 sales transaction closes, but is expected to be about $8.1 billion.

Separately, Treasury also completed a transaction under the Warranty Commitment Program in May. The Warranty Commitment Program, announced March 30, 2009, is a component of the AIFP and provides government-funded protection for warranties issued by Chrysler and GM during the restructuring process. The program covers warranties on new vehicles purchased from Chrysler and GM dealers during the restructuring period, and applies if, during the restructuring period, Chrysler and/or GM fail to honor the subject warranties on their vehicles. On May 27, 2009, Treasury purchased debt obligations from GM of $360.62 million to capitalize GM Warranty LLC, a special purpose vehicle created by GM to finance GM's participation in the Warranty Commitment Program.

On May 29, 2009, Treasury exchanged its $884 million loan to GM for a portion of GM's common equity interest in GMAC, pursuant to Treasury's January 2009 loan agreement with GM. As a result of the exchange, Treasury holds a 35.4 percent common equity interest in GMAC.

In May, Treasury received $107.5 million in dividend and interest payments from participants in the AIFP. As of May 31, 2009, Treasury had received a total of $359.7 million in interest and dividend payments from participants in the AIFP since the inception of the program.

Details about the AIFP are available on Treasury's website at:
<http://www.financialstability.gov/roadtostability/autoprogram.html>.

Capital Assistance Program

On February 25, 2009, Treasury announced the terms and conditions of the Capital Assistance Program (CAP), a component of the Financial Stability Plan. The purpose of the CAP is to restore confidence throughout the financial system that the nation's largest banking institutions have a sufficient capital cushion against larger than expected future losses should they occur due to a more severe economic environment, and to support lending to creditworthy borrowers in that scenario. Treasury has published a White Paper outlining the specific details of the program at: <http://www.financialstability.gov/latest/tg40.html>.

One key component of the CAP was a forward looking Supervisory Capital Assessment Program (SCAP) or stress test undertaken by the federal banking regulators to determine the capital needs of banks in a worse-than-expected economic scenario. The SCAP was conducted on the 19 largest U.S. bank holding companies (BHCs). On May 7, 2009, the Federal Reserve and the federal banking agencies released the results the SCAP, which are available at: <http://www.financialstability.gov/docs/SCAPResults.pdf>.

In the context of the SCAP, any BHC needing to augment its capital buffer had until June 8, 2009 to develop a detailed capital plan, and until November 9, 2009 to implement that plan. In light of the potential for new commitments under the CAP or exchanges of existing CPP preferred stock, federal bank supervisors will consult with Treasury on the development and evaluation of the capital plans. Treasury is making capital available under the CAP as a bridge to private capital in the future. A BHC may apply for Mandatory Convertible Preferred (MCP) in an amount up to two percent of risk-weighted assets (or higher on request). MCP can serve as a source of contingent common capital for the firm, convertible to common equity when and if needed to meet supervisory expectations regarding the amount and composition of capital.

Treasury will consider requests to exchange outstanding preferred shares sold under the CPP or the Targeted Investment Program (TIP) for new mandatory convertible preferred issued under the CAP. Treasury expects that any exchange of Treasury-issued preferred stock for MCP will be accompanied or preceded by new capital raises or exchanges of private capital securities into common equity, thereby protecting the taxpayers' interests. The MCP instrument is designed to give banks the incentive to redeem or replace the government-provided capital with private capital when feasible. Institutions that did not participate in the SCAP have the ability to access the CAP in accordance with the previously released terms and conditions.

The term sheet for MCP is available on Treasury's website at:
http://www.treas.gov/press/releases/reports/tg40_captermsheet.pdf.

Details about the CAP are available on Treasury's website at:
<http://www.financialstability.gov/roadtostability/capitalassistance.html>.

Capital Purchase Program

Treasury established the Capital Purchase Program (CPP) in October 2008 to stabilize the financial system by building the capital base of viable U.S. financial institutions, enabling them to continue to lend to businesses and consumers during this unprecedented financial crisis and economic downturn. Under the CPP, Treasury has purchased senior preferred shares from qualifying U.S. controlled banks; savings associations; and certain bank, savings and loan, and mutual holding companies. Treasury also has purchased subordinated debentures from financial institutions that are Subchapter S corporations.

Between May 1 and May 31, 2009, Treasury purchased $392.7 million in senior preferred stock and subordinated debentures from 48 financial institutions through the CPP. Since establishing the CPP in October 2008 through May 31, 2009, Treasury has invested a total of $199.4 billion in senior preferred shares and subordinated debentures in 613 financial institutions in 48 states, the District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico. The nation's federal banking regulators are evaluating all CPP applications and continue to send qualifying applications to Treasury for final approval.

Treasury receives dividend payments from its investments under the CPP and has received a total of $4.50 billion in dividend payments since establishing the program. In May, Treasury received $1.86 billion in dividend payments from institutions participating in the CPP.

In addition, Treasury receives payments in connection with the repayment by financial institutions of Treasury's investment through the CPP. During the month of May 2009, a total of 9 institutions redeemed Treasury's investment. Through the repayment process, Treasury received a total of $735.32 million, plus an additional $3.41 million in accrued and unpaid dividends from the repurchase of senior preferred shares. Cumulatively, 20 institutions have redeemed Treasury's investments in senior preferred shares for a total of $1.77 billion, plus an additional $11.83 million in accrued and unpaid dividends. Treasury will continue to consult with federal banking regulators on requests from CPP participants interested in repaying Treasury's investment. Separately, Treasury is working closely with the federal banking regulators on the requests for repayment by the CPP participants that were subject to the SCAP and expects to receive a number of payments in June.

Under the redemption process, Treasury also receives payments associated with the exercise of warrants associated with CPP investments. Specifically, as of May 27, 2009, Treasury received $1.60 million, plus an additional $17,153 in accrued and unpaid dividends, in connection with the repurchase of preferred shares associated with the exercise of warrants from three private institutions, and $11.73 million from the repurchase of warrants from five public institutions.

Treasury designed the CPP to include the broad range of financial institutions that comprise the financial system and it has benefited every banking community in the country. The 613 institutions Treasury has funded under the CPP include small, community, regional, and national banks, as well as Community Development Financial Institutions.

The application deadlines have passed for publicly-held institutions, eligible privately-held financial institutions, Subchapter S corporations, mutual holding companies, and mutual banks. On May 13, 2009, Treasury announced the re-opening of the CPP with new terms aimed at encouraging participation by small community banks that are qualified financial institutions (QFIs) as defined under any published term sheet. The new program is for banks with less than $500 million of total assets and the terms include the following: (i) Treasury has re-opened the application window for all term sheets and established an application deadline of November 21, 2009; (ii) viable banks are eligible to apply for up to five percent of their risk-weighted assets (RWA) and; (iii) the window to form a bank holding company for the purposes of the CPP was re-opened with a deadline of November 21, 2009. For holding companies with more than one bank, all bank assets will be aggregated and only holding companies with total assets of less than $500 million are eligible.

Information on the terms of the expanded CPP window is available on Treasury's website at: <http://www.financialstability.gov/docs/FAQonCPPforsmallbanks.pdf>.

On May 14, 2009, Treasury notified a number of insurance companies that they had received preliminary approval to participate in the CPP. Insurance company pre-approvals do not constitute a new program under the TARP. Rather, all pre-approved companies complied with the requirements to participate in the CPP under existing term sheets, as they are organized as bank or thrift holding companies and filed a CPP application within the initial application window deadline. To process these applications, Treasury worked with the insurance and federal banking regulators to develop a robust analytical framework to assess the particular characteristics of insurance companies.

Details about the CPP are available on Treasury's website at: <http://www.financialstability.gov/impact/index.html>.

Making Home Affordable Program

Making Home Affordable, a comprehensive program to stabilize the U.S. housing market, was first announced by the Administration on February 18, 2009 as part of its Homeowner Affordability and Stability Plan.

On May 14, 2009, Treasury announced additional details on the Making Home Affordable Program, including:

- Home Price Decline Protection (HPDP) Incentives will provide lenders additional incentives for modifications where home price declines have been most severe and lenders fear these declines may persist. To encourage the modification of more mortgages and enable more families to keep their homes, the Administration, building on insights pioneered by FDIC Chairperson Bair and the FDIC, has developed an innovative payment that provides compensation based on recent home price declines. Together the incentive payments on all modified homes will help cover the incremental collateral loss on those modifications that do not succeed. HPDP payments will be linked to the rate of recent home price decline in a local housing market, as well as the average cost of a home in that market.
- Foreclosure alternatives to provide incentives for servicers and borrowers to pursue short sales and deeds-in-lieu (DIL) of foreclosure in cases where the borrower is generally eligible for a MHA modification but does not qualify or is unable to complete the process, which helps prevent costly foreclosures and minimizes the damage that foreclosures impose on borrowers, financial institutions and communities. The new provisions should simplify and streamline the process of pursuing short sales and DIL, which will facilitate the ability of more servicers and borrowers to utilize the program. The program provides a standard process flow, minimum performance timeframes, and standard documentation, and it offers financial incentives to servicers and borrowers to pursue these alternatives to foreclosure.

On May 20, 2009, President Obama signed into law the Helping Families Save Their Homes Act of 2009, which made several important changes to the Hope for Homeowners Program (H4H) and should permit the integration of H4H with the Making Home Affordable Program.

As of May 31, 2009, 15 servicers had executed Servicer Participation Agreements and more than $15 billion (of a total potential allocation of $50 billion) had been allocated to implement the program. Between loans serviced by the participants and loans owned or securitized by the GSEs, more than 80 percent of all mortgage loans are now covered by the Making Home Affordable Program.

Since the launch of Making Home Affordable on March 4, 2009, more than one million Americans have refinanced their mortgages, due to historically low interest rates, including approximately 9,000 borrowers who have refinanced under the Home Affordable Refinance Program (a component of Making Home Affordable). In addition, approximately 122,000 Home Affordable Modification offers have been extended to qualifying borrowers.

Details about Making Home Affordable are available on Treasury's website at <http://www.makinghomeaffordable.gov> and <http://www.financialstability.gov/roadtostability/homeowner.html>.

For Period Ending May 31, 2009

Name	Amount
Citigroup	$5,000,000,000

The subsidy rate for this insurance contract is determined to be -0.25 percent. Per EESA section 102(c)(3), premiums shall be set at a level necessary to meet anticipated claims. To ensure that the guarantee remains compliant with section 102(c)(3), the Master Agreement provides for post-signing adjustments including additional Citigroup preferred stock, a reduction of the covered asset pool, and/or an increased Citigroup deductible (section 5.2 of the Master Agreement). Under this section of the agreement, the subsidy rate will be reassessed once the loan pools are finalized and details are provided to Treasury (changes in the composition of assets are expected). Citigroup must either transfer more preferred stock or absorb more in first losses (it is unlikely the size of the asset pool would be reduced), if it is found that the risks of the assets in the loan pool exceed those estimated today and would not meet the requirements of EESA section 102(c)(3). This "true-up" would occur over the next 4 months.
